

IT Support Internship

The Opportunity:

We are seeking motivated individuals who are interested in an internship in the IT department at our privately held biotech company. The IT Support intern will work closely with IT staff on ongoing IT support services, operations, projects and initiatives to improve X-Chem's IT experience. The IT Support intern will also learn to provide daily IT support for standard activities and operations.

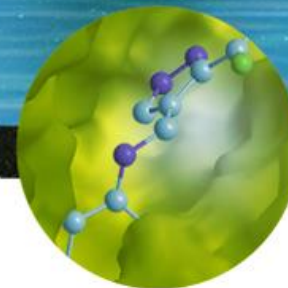

In this role, you will work with peers to provide user support and assist with day-to-day technical support to employees for internal PC's, system software and hardware. Must be capable of working according to defined processes and procedures.

Responsibilities:

- Provide direct employee support via walk-up, email, and phone
- Imaging and configuration of laptops and desktops
- Identifying, researching, and resolving technical issues
- Inventory management
- Handling tickets and escalating when necessary
- An important aspect of the job is to work with the goal of continually improving and streamlining current practices

Required Skills and Qualifications:

- Proven ability to effectively interact with end-users in identifying and resolving technical issues
- Ability to multi-task while maintaining an appropriate level of professionalism and composure
- Proactive and resourceful in troubleshooting issues
- Knowledge in maintenance and troubleshooting of desktop hardware and software (Windows 7 and 10), Microsoft Office, Active Directory, and Exchange account administration a plus.
- Currently enrolled in a Computer Science or IT related program

About X-Chem

X-Chem, Inc. is a privately held biotechnology company based in Waltham, Massachusetts, established in 2009 to apply its innovative drug discovery capabilities to the generation of novel small molecule therapeutics.

Our chemical strategy can be applied broadly to most targets in any therapeutic area, including the most challenging ones. We have built a strong team of leading experts with proven track records in innovative drug discovery and biotechnology partnering.

EEO Statement

X-Chem is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Job Code – INTJB01 (Use Job Code in subject line of all communications)

Apply Now

X-Chem Pharmaceuticals Careers Page

Contact Name: Internship Program

Email careers@x-chemrx.com

Position Location Waltham, MA